

FRUIT PICKERS WANTED.

Sally Milligan of West End, Brisbane, read a job advertisement and decided to apply for one of the jobs that most Queenslanders are not willing to do.

She submitted her application for a job in Gayndah Qld as a lemon picker but thought that she was too qualified for the job.

She had an arts degree from Griffith University and a master's degree from the University of Queensland.

For a number of years she had worked as a social worker, and also as a schoolteacher.

The farmer studied her job application, frowned, and said "I see that you are well educated, and have an impressive resume".

However, I have to ask you, "Have you had any actual experience in picking lemons?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, I have", she said.

"I have been divorced three times, owned two used cars, voted twice for Kevin Rudd, and once for Willie Shorten".
